Your Memo No. 486 of 27th March.

1. I was very interested to read what you had to say. It is perfectly correct that 7493 called me when 7417 was away on leave. He asked to come and see me but I told him that I would prefer him to wait until 7417 returned from leave the following Monday. As it turned out, of course, 7417 was whisked away almost immediately to London and therefore 7493 had no opportunity of seeing him.

2. Knowing, as I do, that all telephone calls to the Legation are tapped, I was particularly careful in my conversation with 7493, as I think you will agree if you have seen the record. If you could obtain a transcript of this record I should be most interested, since it would possibly give me some guidance as to future telephone conversations. It is always interesting to read exactly what one did say, particularly in a routine case of this nature.
